STUDENT COUNCIL

Holds Progressive Meeting

Undergraduate Governors Plan To Co-Operate With "News"; Council Dance Jan. 13

Ways and means of improving the Xaverian News, "Hell Week" for the Freshmen, a Student Council Dance to be held Friday, January 13.

These motions and many other minor and incidental motions were discussed and acted upon at the past Student Council meeting held Thursday, December 1, in the Student Council assembly room in the Biology Building. A lengthy discussion began over Mr. Landenwiche's motion that the Editor of the "News", and whatever staff members of the "News" the Editor may designate, should be present at a special meeting to discuss policies of the Xaverian News.

It seems that, from the general trend of the discussion by the Council members on this subject, some improvements are sought in the present policy of the "News."

It was through a motion of Tom Schmidt, president of the sophs, that the sophomore class will soon resume their barbaric activities against the freshmen.

A motion by "Angy" Koester that freshmen should be paddled only for infraction of freshmen rules was seconded—but defeated.

Mr. Koester was instrumental in securing a definite date to be set for the coming Student Council dance. It was through his motion, seconded and passed, that the dance of the Council is to be held on the first Friday of January.

Xavier students are again reminded that the Student Council has relinquished its self-voted privilege of attending all student activities free, so that there might not be a continuation of the resentful feeling against the Council when they hold their dance.

Others in the cast are: Julia Kelly, Martha Metz, Esther Spaeth, Charlotte Sheehan, Mary Farney, Sarah M. Molloy, Jeanette Nurre, Winifred Wuenne-man, Bertha Gossman, Harry Timon, Clifford Swanger, Stanley Grady and Frank Donovan.

Wiethe To Lead Musketeers Of '33 In Outstanding Schedule; Legion Of Honor For McPhail

Carnegie, W. & J., And Indiana Feature Next Year's Gridiron Schedule, Announced At Testimonial Banquet

Outstanding features of the annual Xavier University Football Dinner, held at the Hotel Alms Wednesday evening, were the election of John Wiethe, '34, powerful guard, to the captaincy of next year's Musketeer gridders, the appointment of Harold McPhail, this year's captain to the Legion of Honor, and the announcement of the football schedule for next season.

The rather large crowd of Xaverians and friends of Xavier seemed well pleased by all three facts.

This year's testimonial dinner in honor of the football team measured up to past performances of this important University event. After a splendid dinner, which of course was enjoyed by all, Mr. Walter S. Schmidt, toastmaster, called upon several prominent speakers, who regaled the big stag crowd with oratory and wit concerning the great college pastime, stressing Xavier's place in the intercollegiate sport world.

Rev. Alphonse L. Fisher, S. J., long a Dean of the Commerce School and an ardent football enthusiast here for many years, forgot his condition of illness, to deliver a spirited defense of college football. He was well pleased, he said, by the great part gridiron stars of the past played in this year's political campaign, and expressed his opinion that the development of the body is a very important part of all education.

Wiethe Elected

Joseph A. Meyer, Director of Athletics, then awarded letters to eighteen players and a student manager of the Musketeers of '32, and these lettermen balloted for next year's captain. The result was the election of John Wiethe, guard, who has served the team so well at guard for two years already; John was named on the second ALL-CMO team recently, and enjoys a great reputation as a trouble maker for opposing elevens. In a few modest words, "Socks" promised to carry on the high standard set by Capt. McPhail, and predicted a good season under his leadership. The ovation he received was worthy of Al Smith.

The letters were awarded to the following, who filled the requirements of playing sixteen quarters:

These seniors won gold football awards:

McPhail, Corbett, Hosty, Lubbers, Moellering, Steinkamp, Ervin Stadler, Frank Mercurio, and Nurra.

Pat Slattery received the X. A. A. award for three years of faithful service.

Rector Reminisces

There followed an interesting "address" by the Rev. President, Hugo F. Elcietmyer, S. J., who recalled the good old days when he was a Xavier student, and perpetrated just such over-enthusiastic demonstrations of loyalty as the freshmen of the year were reprimanded for by stern custodians of justice. He voiced his delight at the progress of Xavier in the past decades to a ranking University.

The guest speaker of the evening, Raymond A. Eichenlaub, former Notre Dame All-American fullback, and at present a foremost official, gave an interesting discussion of football past and present, stressing the importance of the "fundamentals" to a successful grid machine, and pointing out the mental development accruing from participation in football.

Coaches

Joe Meyer's "Review", which followed, was about the most interesting speech of the evening. Joe, who is always a good talker, was at his best, as he explained the whys and the wherefores of scheduling, the development of raw players, and the training method of the modern football coach. Nor did Joe forget to call on his assistants, Clem Crowe, line coach, and Mark A. "Pop" Schmidt, freshman mentor, each of whom said a great deal in a few humorous words, and promised continued good work for the Alma Mater.

A few words were said by the retiring Mr. McPhail and Bill Bucklew, frosh captain, and these spokesmen presented Joe and Mark with attractive gifts from their respective squads.

McPhail Legionnaire

John C. Thompson, himself on the Legion roster from the class of 1910, presented, as usual, a spirited speech about the Legion of Honor, Xavier's highest expression of athletic greatness, and announced that Harold McPhail had been chosen to represent this year's great squad of the Legion roster. McPhail was cheered heartily—there was not a man in the hall who was not rejoicing at his appointment (for he is one splendid fellow).

Frosh Rewarded

Freshman numerals were awarded to twenty players and two managers, as follows:

Capt. William Bucklew, George Delker, Edgar Dodd, Robert Dreman, Kenneth Frazer, William Grogan, Edward Gutfreund, Stanley Haffey, Tom Haverty, John Homan, William Huck, Carl Jonke, Thomas McCormick, Clinton McKibben, Anthony Schmeig, Carl Schwing, Dominic Sigillo, Russell Sweeney, Albert Word, and Frederick Wunderlich, and Paul Barrett and Howard Ragland, Jr., student managers.

Xavier's 1933 football schedule with dates not yet announced includes Transylvania College, at home; EKyan College, at home; a tentative game away from home; Carnegie Tech, at home; Washington and Jefferson College, at home; Centre College, at home; Loyola at New Orleans; Indiana University, at home; and Haskell Institute, at home.

It is rumored that the tentative date may be filled by either Pittsburgh or Denison.

NO CHANGES

Made In Philop Constitution

Proposals Of Members Regarding Decisions And By-Laws Rejected

The regular meeting of the Poland Philopedian Society was held last Monday afternoon with the Chairman, James Dewan, presiding. The secretary, Charles Donovan, called the roll and read the minutes of the previous meeting. No debate was listed on the program for the day and, therefore, Father Manning, the Society's Moderator, gave brief but interesting comments. He told the members that participation in the finals of the Verkamp debate did not necessarily mean that those fortunate persons would be on the University's debating team. Concerning this latter activity, Father Manning stated that he would like to have all these members who have any speaking ability whatsoever to try to win a place for themselves on this team which is to represent Xavier in a number of intercollegiate debates. The Moderator concluded his remarks by reminding the Society to consider well the amendments which were to be put before the house at this meeting.

The regular procedure for Philopedian meetings was then followed. The business of judging debates came up first under old business. The plan proposed was worded to the effect that there be one critic judge to render the decision, but if there is dissent a majority vote of the house will be the final word in deciding the winner. To become a law this proposal needed to be approved by two-thirds of the members, but it failed to obtain the necessary total.

Since there was much quibbling over the legal process involved in proposing an amendment, Mr. Koester made a motion that the by-laws be suspended. This was seconded and passed; and so Mr. Waldron's plan to have three judges appointed by the Chair immediately before the debate to render the decisions, was put to a vote and defeated.

VERKAMP DEBATE TEAMS ARRANGED

All Is Ready For Forensic Event In Library On Dec. 15

Sides and the order of speakers for the annual Verkamp Debate on Thursday December 15 were decided upon in the last few days by the six successful debaters and their two alternates, and all participants agreed upon a slight revision of the subject for debate.

The revised subject is, Resolved: that the United States government should cancel its war debts. They omitted the words "in conjunction with the other allied nations."

In upholding the affirmative, Edward Doering, John Brink, and Robert Ryan will speak in the order mentioned, with Richard Kearney being prepared to fill the position of any one of the three if he should not appear. Frank Waldron, Henry Schoo, and Raymond McCoy will speak in this order for the negative. Maynard Reuter will be their alternate.

It is learned upon authoritative sources that the entire senior class will be in the audience to lend moral support to their fellow classmates, Waldron and Schoo.

The debate will present an opportunity to judge the men around whom a debating team will be constructed, which will represent Xavier during its hard schedule this year.

XAVIER BAND TO PLAY AT PRO CHARITY GAME

The Musketeer Band will represent Xavier University at Cincinnati's charity football game featuring the Portsmouth Spartans and the Chicago Bears. The game is to be played at Redland Field Sunday, December 18 or possibly Christmas, depending on the outcome of Sunday's game between the Bears and the Green Bay Packers.

Bibliophiles and Boobs—

For a college student who is a student at all, the Library is the most hallowed place on the campus. There are stored the volumes which contain the great thought of the ages, the heritages of the great thinkers to us who would like to think for ourselves. There we have access to the finest the world has produced (or much of it) in the fields of philosophy, history, poetry, fiction, et cetera—we have only to take it and it is ours.

A great German thinker and professor once gave this as a formula for educating oneself; "1. Read. 2. Read much. 3. Read very much." And the way it has worked out in the cases that have come beneath the writer's observation is the recommendation he has for this wisdom.

However, it does not seem that the Xavier student body in general has ever heard, or at least puts much faith in, this dictum. The librarian will tell you that the steady and purposeful readers are very few, and that there are many students who seem never to read at all! And if you are inclined to doubt this, just spend an hour sometime looking through the cards in the back covers of the shelved books; you will find a few names repeated many times, but there are many names (and some of them quite prominent ones!) that you will not find at all, or at best very rarely.

This is, in our mind, a rather pathetic state of affairs, when college students are not interested in good books; but it fits in well with the silliness and lack of scholarship which are today such prominent features of this and other campuses.

But the worst of it is, the library is not only not used properly, it is misused very improperly. Misbehavior in the form of boorish laughter and deliberate distraction of students at work have always been quite common. The librarian has had a difficult time to keep some semblance of order without meeting with manifest disapproval as a "crank", or a "pain". (May we remark here that we think he does his job very well.) And now injury has been added to insult. Magazines have been taken from the library, and pages torn out of other ones. There is no excuse for such vandalism and lack of consideration.

It is up to those in authority to deal stringently with such conduct.

A Charity Production—

Of all worthy charities St. Xavier Free-Day Nursery is one of the most deserving of support. It is an organization that has for years provided a wholesome environment where children could be entrusted in capable hands while their parents toiled for their bread and board.

Since everything has been affected by present conditions the Nursery has been no exception. Due to widespread unemployment many cases, which a few years ago were happy and contented families, are now being brought to the attention of the officials. This business has increased but the means for meeting this business has decreased. Here is a case where the demand cannot be met much longer unless financial aid is forthcoming. An operetta, "The Sunbonnet Girl," is being produced Monday evening at Emery Auditorium for the sole benefit of this cause. Thanks are due those generous people who are presenting this operetta, and the sincerest gratitude can be shown by the presence of the S. R. O. sign dangling before the box office at the Emery Monday evening.

But the prime purpose is Christian charity.

Congratulations!—

We are much gratified by the football schedule for next season, as announced by the Athletic Association at the football banquet Wednesday evening. As the Xavier coach made clear on that occasion, arranging for such a list of top-notchers to visit the Queen City is a task that calls for no small amount of diplomacy. "It is not only getting them, but holding them," the mentor said.

We offer our congratulations to everyone concerned with athletics at this University; for only the best of cooperation could have made such a season as this one was, and the next will be, a reality—

We also extend our heartfelt felicitations to those two splendid fellows whom Xavier honors by selection for the Legion of Honor and for the next year's football captaincy, respectively.

The outlook is bright on Corcoran Field.

KNOW XAVIER PAST AND PRESENT

By William Young

The fifth President of Xavier University was a man of remarkable strength of character, particularly gifted by Providence for this work that was to tax his endurance to the limit, a man of winning personality but of deep devotion and particular reverence to the Blessed Sacrament, the man who guided the institution from 1853 to 1856 through the darkest period of Xavier's history.—The Reverend Isidore J. Boudreaux, S. J. The three years of his regime were marked with bitter outbreaks of persecution against the Catholics in the city, mounting to armed violence.

The students no longer attended in such numbers; the attendance fell off to such an alarming degree that the boarding school had to be discontinued. With the appearance of so few day students at the fall opening in 1854, it seemed as though the progress that had gone before was to count for naught. It was like having to make an entirely new start. But the strenuous efforts of Father Boudreaux in obtaining local aid for the college started it on a fresh career of prosperity.

The work was continued by the Reverend Maurice Oakley, S. J., in September, 1856. Beginning with a thorough renovation of the buildings, Father Oakley proceeded to erect a new cathedral. While the old church was being torn down, an unfortunate accident occurred, throwing a undesirable reflection upon the college and bringing it into unpleasant publicity.

Following this calamity which soon passed, came the dark clouds of Civil War, seriously retarding payments on the new church, besides decreasing the attendance considerably. The Federal lottery, drafting four members of the faculty into the army, further complicated matters. However, they were soon excused from service.

As the seventh Rector of the College, the Reverend John Schultz, S. J., succeeded Father Oakley in 1862. Father Schultz saw at once the need of a new school building; the old, appearing so dark and dingy beside the new cathedral, was more of an eyesore by the contrast than the property of the growing institution seemed to warrant. A lot extending 100 feet on Sycamore Street and 160 feet on Seventh Street was bought for $18,500 and was rented until the new building could be erected.

The structure was begun in 1867 by Father Schultz's immediate successor, Reverend Walter H. Hill, and was known as the Hill building. Costing a total of more than $200,000, this building, a handsome piece of architecture, was an object of civic pride and a showplace in the city. Of heavy stone facings, fronted by a massive stone entrance, of thick walls and solid oak interior finish, it is every bit as firm today as on the day it was completed, "its beauty marred only by its thick coating of Cincinnati soot." The dedication of this faculty building on June 25, 1868, was an important occasion and celebrated with solemn services, attended by the Provincial of the Missouri Province who blessed the structure, and five former presidents of the institution.

Before Father Hill retired from his office in 1869, he was largely instrumental in having the General Assembly of Ohio enact a bill granting the college a perpetual charter with the status of a university. Father Hill's energetic character, his fine abilities, and his kind, generous spirit made him preeminently fitted for an important place in St. Louis, where, on his death, he was eulogized as "one of the greatest priests this country ever produced."

Laid To Rest At Milford

Fr. Slocetmyer Officiates; Deceased Great Friend Of Student Body

Amid the simple ceremonies of a Jesuit funeral, Fr. Bennett was laid to rest in Milford, Wednesday. The funeral mass was held in St. Xavier Church and was officiated by Rev. Hugo Slocetmyer. The Archbishop and a score of priests were present to chant the office of the dead.

Fr. Bennett was endeared to many boys he had taken into his perpetual friendship. His good nature and happy smile will be greatly missed by those who knew him.

Fr. Augustine H. Bennett entered the Society of Jesus in 1911 and since then has assisted and held many prominent offices. At the time of his death he was treasurer of Xavier High School and a member of the faculty. Every one who had this man as a teacher will remember him as the finest example of a benefactor to youth. May his reward in Heaven be as great as his works on earth and may he live forever in our minds as a truly great man.

Sodality Notes

"Infinite, Thy vast domain, Everlasting is Thy name."

With these words the Exposition of the Blessed Sacrament came to an end at Bellarmine Chapel, Friday, December 2.

From the attendance at the assembly it seemed that it was an all-freshman event even though it was held for the benefit of the whole student body.

There were at least eighty freshmen present, about one junior, one senior, and possibly three or four sophomores. Two officers of the Senior Sodality were present.

It wasn't for the freshmen volunteering to keep individual ten minute watches during the Exposition this holy event would have been very near void of any visitors.

A count showed that a greater portion of those who offered ten minutes of their time for individual watches were mostly freshmen.

Contemplating the coming Christmas exams, it struck me that now is the perfect time for our good profes-

FR. MANNING'S BOOKLET HAS LARGE CIRCULATION

Xavier sodalists will be interested in the word just received from the Queen's Work Press of St. Louis, directed by Rev. Daniel A. Lord, S. J., that the pamphlet entitled "Explanation of the Sodality Office" by Rev. Robert E. Manning, S. J., of the department of classics, has gone into the second printing this month.

Over 7000 copies of the pamphlet have been distributed to date. Father Lord, national organizer of Sodality work, writes: "The publication and sale of the booklet has meant a great deal to the Sodality Movement."

HOW SHOCKING IT IS!

Three earth shocks were recorded at the Seismological Observatory since last week according to Rev. Dr. Victor C. Stechschulte, S. J., director.

The instruments picked up a slight tremor at 11:09:30 Saturday night originating at a distance of about 1800 miles.

At 3:31:30 Sunday morning a severe quake began and continued for over two hours, about 5000 miles away.

A third slight shock was recorded shortly before 6 a. m., Sunday.

Frosh Rules To End With Burlesque Event

Elusive Porker To Be Pursued; Squirrely Races Are To Be Run

By Cliff Lange

There is a nursery jingo about one little pig doing this, and another pig doing that; that one pig had this and another pig got that but it is now universally agreed among the freshmen and sophomores that the greased pig who will attempt to elude their grasping hands Friday night, at the Field House, is sure to get a sound "Whacking" before they are through with it.

On Friday night the Sophomore and Freshman classes are going to revamp the marathon classics in a manner that bespeaks extreme originality. For they're going to have a class meeting that will bring "Hell Week" to a close at Xavier University for the Class of '36.

Tom Schmidt, president of the Sophomores, together with Ed Nurre, student manager, and "Chuck" Duffy, president of the Freshmen, have arranged a program that will make the clothiers of greater Cincinnati clap their hands with a pecuniary smack.

Besides having a greased pig contest there is also to be a sack race, a three legged race, a potato race, a string enting contest, and a tug of war.

The sophs are to compete against the frosh in these races and battles, the winner of the contest will be that side which has the greatest number of points since the winner of each contest will be given a definite number of points for each contest won.

There are going to be eats too for after the brawl the sophs and the frosh are to be treated to a snack at Mark Schmidt's Coffe Palace Deluxe in the Union House.

During the snacking Reverend Hugo Sloetmyer, president of Xavier University, will address the combined classes.

Following is a list of the events with their respective points:

Relay Race .....	25 points
Horse and Rider Race .....	10 points
Sack Race .....	10 points
3 Legged Race .....	10 points
Wheelbarrow Race .....	10 points
Potato Race .....	20 points
Cracker Race .....	10 points
String Eating Contest .....	10 points
Tug of War .....	75 points
Greased Pig .....	25 points

Ed Nurre, Student Manager, states that if a good time is desired by the participants in the events it would be best that they wore old clothes because a greased pig is worse than an automatic grease-gun gone "haywire."

Helpful Horace

I received several letters this week asking for help of various kinds. One of the most interesting reads as follows:

Dear Horace:

My girl likes candy. She's just wild about it. But the only trouble is that she has an extremely meticulous taste. I have been sending her box after box of candy and every time I ask her how she likes it she proceeds to bowl me out for not choosing the right kind or quality. I have sent almost every kind I can think of but she still continues to find fault with me, because my selections do not suit her taste. I'm in an awful pickle. If I don't send her candy she will be angry with me because she loves candy. If I do send her candy she gets displeased because I can't find any to suit her. Please tell me what to do.

Yours hopefully,

Down In The Mouth.

My dear fellow, the solution to your problem is simple. Send her the candy, but let someone else pick it out. Then she can't find fault with you. You will have to shift the blame in an artful and graceful manner, and to this end, I offer you a suggestion that will probably solve your problem.

The first thing to do is purchase a really fine expensive box of chocolates, with at least five layers. Fill each layer with a different kind of candy—fruit centers, nut centers, cream centers and all the popular kinds. Before you present her with the box insert the following verses in the sections of the box indicated by the title of each verse. Here are the verses:

Just Under The Lid

A candy-store salesman's
A wonderful guy;
He's there with suggestions
Of what kind to buy.

First Layer

I entered the store
With my swankest of struts,
"What kind are these here?"
He said, "They're the nuts."

Second Layer

You really should smile
When you bite into these
The salesman assured me
That, "Fruits always please."

Third Layer

This box should have something
Substantial it seems.
I said, "What do you think?"
He said, "Op'ra creams."

Fourth Layer

"Now give me some sweets
In which sentiment enters."
He said, "Try these chocolates
With peppermint centers."

Fifth Layer

"Just one more good layer
And then I'll be fixed.
What other kind have you?"
The salesman said, "Mixed."

Beneath The Last Layer

Now if you don't care for these
Pshaw; That's a shame!
But remember, the salesman,
Not I, is to blame.
And if you do care for these
That will be nice.
Give me credit for taking
An expert's advice.

HACKMAN ILL AGAIN

Paul G. Hackman underwent a third operation within the last year, recently, at Good Samaritan Hospital.

WILGING IS SELECTED FOR ALL-OHIO TEAM

Coleman Wilging, giant tackle, has been named for that position on the All-Ohio team by both the United and Associated Press. An excellent blocker and a vicious tackler, "Cole" is always found in the thick of the fray. The fact that he played several games with a broken hand gives evidence of his grit. "Cole" is the type of player every coach seeks but seldom finds.

Second team honors were accorded John "Sooko" Wiethe, fighting guard. Wiethe's great line play was one of the bright spots of the current season.

Capt. Hal McPhail and George Elder, sophomore speedster, received honorable mention.

Art In Drinking

Friends of Xavier who are anticipating the repeal of the oppressive 18th Amendment should know that the H. & S. Pogue Co. is featuring in its glassware department an outfit of glasses, (high ball and low ball), decanters, shakers (not salt), and—oh well, you know,—anyway, as we are trying to say, this glassware is artistically decorated in the school colors and with the emblem of the Xavier Musketeers.

If you are a sissy and do not drink perhaps you smoke. If so (and why not?) you can obtain at said Pogue's store a cigarette jar, a "umidor, or a jar for your "baccer."

Lovers of schnapps and stogies, forward!
